

HONORABLE THOMAS PATRICK McCARTHY

Thomas Patrick McCarthy is an Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) with the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission (FMSHRC) in Washington DC. Since May 2016, Judge McCarthy has also been an Administrative Law Judge on loan to the U.S. Department of Justice, Executive Office of Immigration Review. From February 2008 until May 2010, Judge McCarthy served as Supervisory Administrative Law Judge (SALJ) with the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Medicare Hearings and Appeals (OMHA) in Miami, Florida.

Before his judicial appointment, Judge McCarthy enjoyed an extensive, 23-year career with the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) in Washington, DC and Baltimore, MD, and served in private practice practicing labor and employment law. Judge McCarthy is Chairman of the Working Group to revise the 1993 Model Adjudication Rules for the Administrative Conference of the United States (ACUS). He served as past president of the Federal Administrative Law Judges Conference (FALJC), and past president of the Prettyman-Leventhal American Inn of Court on Administrative Law.

Judge McCarthy holds a Masters of Law in Labor and Employment Law from Georgetown University Law School and a Juris Doctorate from the State University of New York at Buffalo, where he served as Publications Editor for the Buffalo Law Review. Judge McCarthy graduated magna cum laude with a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Relations from LeMoyne College in Syracuse, New York.

[None of the remarks made by Judge McCarthy at this conference reflect of the views of the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission, its Office of Administrative Law Judges, or the United States Government.]
